Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples

Article 26

1. Indigenous peoples have the right to the lands, territories and resources which they have traditionally owned, occupied or otherwise used or acquired.

2. Indigenous peoples have the right to own, use, develop and control the lands, territories and resources that they possess by reason of traditional ownership or other traditional occupation or use, as well as those which they have otherwise acquired.

3. States shall give legal recognition and protection to these lands, territories and resources. Such recognition shall be conducted with due respect to the customs, traditions and land tenure systems of the indigenous peoples concerned.
Facilitation

- Increasing awareness in international forums related to climate change, environmental degradation, food security and genetic resources, as well as science, technology and innovation
- Misappropriation and misuse of traditional knowledge still remaining
- Urgent action needed
Convention on Biological Diversity

Article 8

Each Contracting Party shall, as far as possible and as appropriate:

(j) Subject to its national legislation, respect, preserve and maintain knowledge, innovations and practices of indigenous and local communities embodying traditional lifestyles relevant for the conservation and sustainable use of biological diversity and promote their wider application with the approval and involvement of the holders of such knowledge, innovations and practices and encourage the equitable sharing of the benefits arising from the utilization of such knowledge, innovations and practices;
Facilitation on the international level

- Facilitative Working Group of the local communities and indigenous peoples’ platform within the UN FCCC
- International Indigenous Forum on Biodiversity
